PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Although Michigan has been rainy, it's good to be back from Texas. Almost everyday we would catch snippets of the devastation caused by the violent storms Texas was experiencing. It seemed as if no one was left untouched, our hearts and prayers went out to those who lost loved ones, homes and their livelihood.

The Annual 40th Course in Austin did proceed as planned. President Elect Patti Yonkovit and I represented MSGNA at the House of Delegates. The primary focus of this session was to consider all proposed resolutions then vote on each one. A total of four resolutions were submitted for approval, but only one passed. It was submitted by Kristine Barman BSN RN CGRN, from regional society ENCSGNA. The recommended strategy or outcome stated that....SGNA would develop a format at the annual course for regions to display their successes and education provided to members. The rationale was to also provide the opportunity for networking among regions in addition to displaying their educational success on a poster board. We also were present for the Rechartering Ceremony and I received MSGNA's charter. I will give this document to our Treasurer, Katherine Smith, when the Board meets in the fall. Currently the MSGNA Board is busy preparing for our next conference. This one will be held at the Lexington Hotel in Lansing, September 20-22, 2013. It will be hosted by board member Jenneva Kremke and the endoscopy staff at McLaren Greater Lansing Hospital. Postcards will be mailed out to all members with information about the conference and directing everyone to log on to the MSGNA PATHFINDER for quick and easy registration.

The Annual Course in Texas was by far the best!. Although I enjoyed and learned something from each one, the educational choices at this particular course just seemed to meet my needs. Nursing is an ever changing field and this is a good thing, but it can be challenging. I strongly believe we: RNs, LPNs and GI Associates hold the key, we can make a difference. The field of gastroenterology belongs to us and we have the opportunity to influence it and change it. MSGNA invites you to involved in your organization and to use your talent and skills to make change happen . Please, consider running for a position on the Board. You are MSGNA's future!

Marion Smith RN CGRN
MSGNA President

Hello Everyone!

I just wanted to report that the National Course in Austin TX was a great experience. The program was excellent, the conference center was accommodating and the Texan hospitality was gracious. Everyone was most helpful and accommodating from landing at the airport to getting in the cab to take us for our flight home.

At the conference, we had a informal presentation by 2 nurses from SIGNEA. They spoke about their experiences in the Sudan where they assisted and educated nurses in the field of GI. They spoke about the nurses' enthusiasm to learn and become more proficient with the equipment and facilities that were available. SIGNEA would welcome any outdated equipment and unwanted educational materials (eg. Core curriculums, etc.) that could be passed along to facilities which are lacking almost everything.

Also, as a Canadian, I was invited to the International Nurses Reception where I was able to converse with the SIGNEA nurses and the Canadian SGNA President one on one. The Canadian SGNA President has invited MSGNA members to attend their National Course in the fall. We will post some information as a link on our website. It will be held in Banff on September 26-28, 2013. Next year, it will be within a drivable distance of Michigan.

Attending the National Courses and networking on an international level would not have been possible for me if I did not get involved with the MSGNA and serve on the BOD in several capacities. It has been a rewarding experience to work alongside such dynamic GI nurses. We need more members to run for office to have a REAL election. I did not receive any nominations at all this year so, we as Board members nominated candidates who were will to fill the available posts. According to our bylaws, we must still go through the motions of our electronic election process via our MSGNA website. Please log in and cast your vote, more importantly, nominate a candidate or yourself for the available positions on the Board of Directors next year. Several Board members will be retiring and we need new blood and fresh ideas to keep our organization moving forward.

Looking forward to seeing everyone in Lansing in September. Best wishes to you and your families for a safe and happy summer.

Regards, Maria Edwards RN
Immediate Past President

Our own Past President and Board of Director, Lorel Baatenburg RN, was chosen by her facility, St. Marys' Health, for a yearly award for knowledge.

What You Need to Know: Media Coverage Regarding Bioburden Levels on Reprocessed Endoscopes

As you may have seen in recent days, a research study related to the rate of bioburden on reprocessed endoscopes has received attention in various media outlets. The study reports that in a national study, 15 percent of endoscopes were found to have unacceptable levels of bioburden after reprocessing.

SGNA promotes an adherence to stringent standards and guidelines regarding the cleaning, high-level disinfecting and infection control practices centering on endoscopic instruments and accessories.

SGNA wants to ensure that you are able to address your unit's reprocessing standards adherence as well as any questions you may receive from patients or others.

1. Be Sure Your Unit is Following Safety and Reprocessing Guidelines

- Please remember to follow the manufacturer's safety and reprocessing instructions, and don't hesitate to contact your manufacturer's representative for any questions related to equipment reprocessing.
- Reference SGNA's various reprocessing and infection prevention guidelines.

2. Consider Subscribing to SGNA's Infection Prevention Champions Program

SGNA recently introduced the Infection Prevention Champions Program and toolkit as an opportunity for GI/endoscopy units to move to the forefront of infection prevention and ensure the best in patient care. Learn more and consider subscribing to this important program.

3. Visit SGNA's Infection Prevention Website

SGNA's Infection Prevention website, www.sgna.org/InfectionPrevention, offers a full spectrum of infection prevention resources, including:

- Professional Society Guidelines
- Tools
- Educational Resources
- Manufacturer Guidelines
- And More

4. Handling Questions from Your Patients

You may get questions from patients asking about the safety of their endoscopic procedure. SGNA has drafted a list of talking points to use with your patients to assure them of the safety of the procedure.

As always, SGNA is committed to setting the highest-quality standards for gastrointestinal endoscopy through safety guidelines and the training of our members so that patients receive the best and safest care possible.

Judging takes place at the MSGNA Fall Educational Course by three members of MSGNA who are not on the Board of Directors. In the event of a tie, the President-elect will select one other impartial person to act as a tie breaker.

Judging is based on the following criteria:

- Visual appeal, neatness, creativity of presentation, relatedness to GI field, complexity of subject, completeness of research, originality, and conciseness.
- There are 50 possible points awarded (see adjoining page, "poster evaluation point system")
- Posters must have been awarded a minimum of 30 points to be considered to represent MSGNA at the SGNA Annual Course.

The names of entrants will be included on the back of the exhibit only and shall be kept anonymous until the announcement of winners is made.

The winner will be expected to do the following:

- Send their abstract to SGNA by the due date.
- Transport, set-up and breakdown the poster at the SGNA Annual Course.
- Enlarge the poster to a 4 x 8 foot display.
- Present the treasurer with the letter of acceptance from SGNA to receive the award to attend the Annual Course.
- Attend the SGNA Annual Course. In the event the winner is unable to attend, the monies must be returned to the MSGNA via the current treasurer within 30 days of the SGNA Annual Course.

Monetary awards listed below will be based on the availability of funds:

- Early Bird Registration
- Airfare/Transportation
- Four nights lodging
- Food allowance- $30.00 a day for up to five days
- 50% of the poster production and shipping costs

Receipts for the above must be submitted to the treasurer within 14 days to receive reimbursement.

If there is more than one author the award will be divided amongst the authors of the winning poster.

Award benefits are subject to change without notice.

Celebrating GI Nurses' Day at Saint Mary's Health Care in Grand Rapids, Michigan involved more than our Endoscopy Unit this year. Utilizing the theme of "Preventable, Treatable, Beatable" we focused on using the day to inform our fellow employees of the importance of colon cancer screening. We designed a poster that was displayed in the hospital cafeteria and several of us volunteered to sit at the display to offer information and answer questions. Our nutrition services department assisted by providing space in the cafeteria and also by offering samples of vanilla yogurt with fresh strawberries and granola topping. Being there during the three major meal times gave us opportunity to interact with both employees and visitors. We received numerous positive comments through out the day. After such a successful event we wonder how we can top this next year.
